[1] The term "members" includes all regular and associate Exchange members, and member firms, general, special and limited partners in member firms, and voting and non-voting stockholders in member corporations.

[2] On the American Stock Exchange, all odd-lot transactions are handled by specialists, and their round-lot purchases and sales for odd-lot account are not segregated from their other round-lot transactions. In odd-lot transactions, customers' purchases are specialists' sales and customers' sales are specialists' purchases.

NOTE: All sales totals include short sales.

MARKET VALUE OF ALL OUTSTANDING CORPORATE STOCK IN THE U.S.

The estimated market value of all outstanding corporate stock in the United States, including both common and preferred stock, reached $1,168.5 billion in 1972 as compared to the $1,005.6 billion estimated for 1971. This represented an increase of 16 percent in estimated market value between year-ends 1971 and 1972.

Estimates of the market value of total stock outstanding in the United States from 1964 to 1972 are shown in the accompanying table. These estimates were derived as follows: 1) Total corporate stock was obtained by adding the value of stocks listed on exchanges, stocks traded over-the-counter and closely-held corporate stock. 2) Total domestic stock was calculated by deducting the value of investment company shares, foreign issues and intercorporate holdings from total corporate stock. 3) Portfolio foreign stock was added to total domestic stock outstanding to obtain the market value of total corporate stock outstanding in the United States (foreign and domestic issues).

The value of outstanding shares of companies listed on exchanges in 1972 was $932.1 billion or approximately 79.8 percent of total corporate stock. Shares of companies listed on the NYSE accounted for 93.5 percent of the total stocks listed on all exchanges, about the same as they have averaged over the last decade. Outstanding shares of companies exclusively traded in the over-the-counter market were an estimated $260.9 billion in 1972 as compared to $246.8 billion in 1971. The NASDAQ composite index was used in 1972 for the first time to compute the value of OTC stocks. The NASDAQ index includes approximately 2,700 issues.

Total domestic stock (including intercorporate holdings) amounted to $1,261.7 billion in 1972 after subtracting $84.0 billion of investment company shares and $53.7 billion of foreign corporate stock. Total domestic stock, exclusive of intercorporate holdings, was $1,159.5 billion. When the estimated $9.0 billion of portfolio foreign stock held by U.S. investors in 1972 is added to this total, all stock outstanding amounted to $1,168.5 billion at year-end 1972.

For a more detailed explanation of the methodology underlying the estimates of total stock outstanding, see the article by Le Manh Tri in the September 1971 issue of the SEC Statistical Bulletin.
